STANDARD ASSORTMENT TRIBBLES

CAVE TRIBBLE

“Cave” TRIBBLES thrive anywhere there’s darkness. Primarily nocturnal, they’re found mostly at higher elevations – though they can survive almost anywhere they find a suitable niche!

DESERT TRIBBLE

“Desert” TRIBBLES are sand-colored for camouflage, and can often go for days or weeks without eating or drinking. During the rainy season, the deserts bloom and the TRIBBLES feast!

TUNDRA TRIBBLE

“Tundra” TRIBBLES are speckled gray to match their environment, and can go dormant to survive long periods of hostile weather. During the spring thaws and the abundant summer, these TRIBBLES feast and breed!

MEADOW TRIBBLE

“Meadow” TRIBBLES rarely live long enough to find a burrow, so they must breed as rapidly as possible to ensure the survival of their species. They eat grass, grain, leaves, flowers, and even the partly-digested grass found in the dung of larger herbivores!

JUNGLE ASSORTMENT TRIBBLES

TIGER TRIBBLE

While many predators are dark-colored, several have evolved with bright stripes allowing them camouflage for daytime hunting. Likewise, "Tiger" TRIBBLES have evolved identical camouflage to avoid being seen!

LEOPARD TRIBBLE

The TRIBBLE homeworld jungles are populated by voracious cat-like creatures! "Leopard" TRIBBLES' camouflage helps them evade detection, as well as deterring lesser predators.

DALMATIAN TRIBBLE

"Dalmatian" TRIBBLES hit top speeds of two miles per day. They evolved their distinctive coloring to resemble a predator... but some creatures on the homeworld think they're made of chocolate-chip cookie dough!

SNAKE TRIBBLE

"Snake" TRIBBLES have evolved to mimic one of the most voracious of all reptilian predators, locally called "gzorkles." The gzorkle is essentially a loner, so the patterns on these TRIBBLES deflect their attentions!

GAMMA QUADRANT TRIBBLE

“Gamma Quadrant” TRIBBLES have been modified by Ketracel White, so they have no fear of Klingons! According to lore, their fur contains traces of yridium bicantizine, causing them to “phase” while sharpening their owners’ senses.

RADAN TRIBBLE

“Radan” TRIBBLES are the offspring of a lone parent from a dilithium ore processing facility on Troyius. The TRIBBLE adapted to its environment and started to consume the ore... resulting in a brood with a unique purple hue!

TRIOLIC TRIBBLE

During a Devidian incursion into the Neutral Zone, a TRIBBLE was inadvertently fed a “comet cocktail” at the unaligned Drozana Station. Its offspring appear to be infused with triolic waves, leaving their molecular structures slightly out-of-phase!

WINTER TRIBBLE

“Winter” TRIBBLES were produced by a parent who had consumed some of Neelix’s holiday treats (which he cooked up with help from Q’s “unique” recipes). These TRIBBLES are well-adapted to the cold and quite playful!

RAINBOW TRIBBLES

Raised on Risa, RAINBOW TRIBBLES' brilliant colors are a reflection of the joy seen in all those around them, giving their owners the feeling of community to which they're accustomed. These little balls of love are unafraid of Klingons and other species that have treated TRIBBLES negatively in the past.

BLACK ALERT TRIBBLE

In 2256, Lorca and Landry conducted tests to determine whether certain fauna could be used against the Klingons. Some TRIBBLES reacted positively to mycelial spores, resulting in a beautiful fur pattern!

KELVIN TIMELINE TRIBBLE

TRIBBLES exist in most realities, including an alternate timeline spawned in 2233 when the Narada faced off against the Kelvin. A TRIBBLE proved to be of great historical importance in this reality, when McCoy infused it with life-saving "Khan blood"!
